Dimitri,

I looked diligently for another inventory sheet like the two I gave you but could not locate another. I did, however, save the inventory sheets as the square footage of the building from where the inventory list came from. In addition, I went through some of our more recent applications and got you're their inventory summary tables. Its not as detailed as the attachments but it gives you more data, and I also included the square footage of the buildings it came from.

The excel spreadsheets are what you already have, but I had to resend them so that I could match up the sq footage of the building they came from.

Best,

I am grabbing the additional body shop data now. Yesterday was a very fast paced day, it was literally call after call and email after email.

Last night when I was laying in Bed I was like OH NO I forgot to send those files. Anyhow, I will have them to you momentarily.

Phil,

Hi Phillip- thanks for the chat last week. We are getting to the point where we want to calculate emissions rates for all our sources in the HRA. Do you have an ETA for the additional body shop data you mentioned you would be sending us?

Thank you

Good afternoon, Dimitri,

The attached spreadsheet was put together by an existing company who was applying for a second spray booth. They tallied up their usage data and emissions from the previous year and then doubled it to account for the new spray booth that they were applying for.

Hopefully this can also be used as a resource.

Bruce and I are going to give you a call to follow up.
